SUBJECT: Open Information Session About Remote Teaching Technology Available Now
at UC San Diego

WHEN: Wednesday, Dec 8, 2010, 9:00 - 10:00am,
Student Services Center, Multi-Purpose Room (MPR)

DESCRIPTION: This is an information session to describe the instructional facilities and technology that has been in use since last Winter to teach a large lecture course at UC San Diego using multiple classrooms simultaneously. Three classrooms in Peterson Hall (108, 110, and 104) have been equipped to permit a single instructor to teach interactively with students in up to all three of the classrooms. The rooms have been equipped with videoconferencing systems supporting two channels of high resolution video and two-way audio between the classrooms. Instruction is "synchronous", and lectures are captured for video podcast or time shifted "asynchronous" streaming. Come to this information session to learn about the technology and methodology of teaching in this environment and the opportunity to consider if your department would like to pilot a course in this format for Spring 2011 or later. All faculty and staff are welcome to attend.
