

Informal Survey of Fall 2007 Incoming International Students

	Freshmen/1st Yr Grad Students (N=206)				Transfers (N=123)				Exchange Students (N=155)
	Yes	No	?		Yes	No	?		Yes	No	?
It is acceptable in the U.S. academic culture to....
1. Get someone to translate or help me translate my papers and/or assignments from my native language into English	31%	69%	0%		23%	75%	2%		45%	55%	0%
2. Use the words, ideas, or writings of others in my own papers or assignments as long as I cite my sources	77%	23%	0%		76%	24%	1%		89%	11%	1%
3. Work with friends and classmates on homework assignments or lab projects even if the Instructor did not indicate it was a group project	47%	51%	1%		60%	37%	3%		58%	42%	0%
4. When struggling to begin a paper or report, read a friend's or classmate's paper or lab report for ideas	46%	52%	2%		67%	32%	1%		48%	50%	1%
5. Take an examination for a friend who is in danger of failing the class and thus being deported from the U.S.	1%	99%	0%		2%	98%	1%		3%	97%	0%
6. Allow a friend who could not study for a test because of his mother's illness, to look on my test for just a little bit of help	5%	94%	1%		7%	93%	0%		6%	94%	0%
7. Copy information from Wikipedia and/or other websites for my own paper or assignment	9%	91%	0%		5%	94%	1%		7%	92%	1%
8. Use an old exam I got from Academic Success, my residence hall, my friend, or my student club/organization to prepare for my exam	7%	92%	1%		67%	32%	2%		81%	18%	1%
9. Copy parts or all of a computer program from a friend, former student or website for one of my own computer programming assignments	4%	95%	1%		3%	97%	0%		5%	94%	1%
10. Change an incorrect answer on a graded exam and return it to the Instructor so she can see that I do know the correct answer.	5%	93%	2%		10%	89%	1%		9%	90%	1%